California Explorers Have Rough Time in Alaska.

Two Men Die and Others Nearly Starve to Death.

New York, June 12. A despatch to the Herald from San Francisco says that a party of California explorers have had a terrible experience in Alaska.

ertitle experience in Alaska.

They went to the valley of the Yukon or prospecting purposes.

On their homeward trip their provisions are out and they became very weak. Fyriads of flies and mosquitoes added to value missay.

Myriads of files and mosquitoes added to their misery.

Two of the party died of exhaustion and starvation, but the others managed to push on and succeeded in obtaining a quantity of dried salmon, which they devoured like famished wolves.

They returned for the bodies of their comrades, but one of them had been eaten by wolves and the other was covered with mosquitees. He was buried in a rude grave.

Question of Authority of the Police Commissioners.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., June 12 - The old board of police commissioners, who undisputed authority to transact the undisputed suthority to transact the business of the department on the ground that they are hold-overs and that the new board appointed by Mayor Marigold is liegally constituted, held an executive session to-day and voted to order Chief Rylands, who they claim refuses to obey them, to vanate the office without delay.

Mayor Marigold, when informed of the action of the board, ordered the chief to hold his office at all hazards.

The chief will obey the Mayor and hold the fort, either in person or by a trusted officer, day and night.

The matter will probably be taken to the courts. ENothing contributes more towards a sound digestion than the use of the genuine Angustura Bitters, of Dr. J. G. B. Siegert & Sons. Ask your druggist.

The more sensitive nature of the female sex renders women much more susceptible than men to those numerous ills which spring from lack of harmony in the system. The narvous system gives way, akk headache is frequent, the appetite is lost, and other aliments peculiar to the sex cause great suffering. Hood's Sarsaparilla is peculiarly adapted for such cases, and has received the most graffying praise for the relief it has afferded thousands of women whose very existence before taking it was only misery. It strengthens the nerves, cares sick headache and indigestion, purifies and vitalizes the blood, and gives regular and healthy action to every organ in the body. THE HARBOR MYSTERY. Petics Searching for Fietcher's Body.

New BEDFORD, Mass., June 12. There are no new development of importance in the harbor mystery. The police still tiold to the theory that the missing man, George Anthony Fietcher, was murdered. To day the police inspectors v sited Egg Harbor and if the water is smooth enough they will drag for the body. New York, June 12. A despatch to the Herald from San Francisco says that a party of California explorers have had a terrible experience in Alaska.

They went to the valley of the Yukon for prospecting pursouses.

On their homeward trip their provisions gave out and they became very weak. Myriads of files and morguitoes added to their misery.

Two of the party died of exhaustion and starvation, but the others managed to push on and succeeded in obtaining a quantity of dried salmon, which they devoured like Take Commercial Advertiser of Honolulu teers and their sister, Mrs. A. The more sensitive nature of the female sex renders women much more susceptible than men to knose numerous ills which apring from lack of harmony in the ayatem. The narvous system gives way, sick headache is frequent, the appetite is lost, and other ailments peculiar to the sex cause great suffering. Hood's Sarseprilla is peculiarly adapted for such eases, and has received the most gratifying praise for the relief it has afforded thousands of women whose very existence before taking it was only misery. It strengthens the nerves, cures sick headache and indigestion, purifies and vikalites the blood, and gives regular and healthy action to every organ in the body.

The above is a special desputch to the New York Press, and tells its own story and teaches its ownilesson. Business revived and new industries springing up speak volumes for the policy of protection Practical results are what the people

The condition in which the late Democrutic administration of Rhode Island left the affairs of that State when it went out of office a few weeks ago, will not encourage the people to give the party another lease of power, says the Philadelphia Press. The journal of the State Senate for the long session of the Legislature was left unposted, the Anditor's books show discrepancies owing to misconstructions of the law, payments of money by the towns to the State had not been credited, and the accounts of several of the departments had been overdrawn. The discovery of such a startling to the staid, conservative people of Rhode Island. The Republicans held control of the State for a generation, and when they surrendered it to the Democracy everything was in apple-pic order. But one year was enough for the Democrats to muddle things.

The American Economist says: A subscriber sends us a price list received by his wife from Wm. Comisson & Sons, of Belthat, proprietors of the Reyal Damask Tam Manufactory. We quote the Beg most respectfully to intimate that being determs of extending their connections to the UnitedStates, they have now sent out to reside in Now York a special and properly qualit and representative who will be gird to extend manpies of their new and hundesque patterns, also of interferente designs, do., to intending purchasers.

A Mugwump Rebuked by a Decent Democrat.

[New York Sun.] The little Magwamp of the Springfield Republican sneers this little sneer at a oright journalist and staiwart statesman of the State of Maine:

the State of Maine:

"Capt. Boutelle, of The Bandon Willo, is now trying to edge his way back into the Blaine fold, which he deserted last year when it seemed that that great man was down and the Porthand great man was up. He is very solicitous at present about Mr. Blaine's health, and makes many compitmentary allusions to him, although just before and after Heed's triumphant re-election the Secretary was either insulted or ignored."

t ommodore Boutelle may have his weak- ba nesses, but truckling and ignominious edg- co log around are not in the catalogue. If Commodore Boutelle expresses solicitude about Mr. Blaine's health ie is really solicitous, and if he makes complimentary allusions to the Secretary be means them.

The village of Bath-on-the-Hudson, though its manufactoring interests are few, can boast of possessing the only jewsharp factory in the United States of New York city Simple as the jewsharp is, it requires, nevertheless, no little skill in construction The proprietor of the factory in Bath is John Smith and he has perfected himself to such an extent that his work is recognized as among the best in the recognized as among the best in the world. The factory is small building situated a short distance off Third street, and although unprefentious contains every facility for the manufacture of 16 msymma

Twenty years ago, in England, Mr smith began his apprentices up at the trade. Hearing from friends in this country that here would be found a market for the sale of his spe calty he determined to emigrate Ar riving in New York he failed to secure employment and deciding to start in business for himself be went to Troy and opened a factory there. He was but moderately successful in Troy and after a short time moved to Bath built a factory and is perfectly satisfied with the location. The Smith jewsharp is sold principally to hrms in New York Boston and Chicago These firms sell the goods to retailers throughout the United States

When the factory is running at its fullest capacity over two gross a day are turned out. The busiest time of the year is that just preceding the holidays. During this season the factory employs five people-the proprietor, his two sons and two other Englishmen, who live

The Fashions.

The imported models for summer dresses en princesse are so transformed by their new drameries and novel adjustments as to almost lose their identity. The elegant Louis Quatorze coats of satio brocade in gray and guid, reseda and lilac, silver and heliotrope, etc., are finished with vests of embroidered crepe de Chine They fit like a deep bodice in the back, and they have full moderately high sleeves, finished at the neck and wrists with a rich garniture of jewelled galloon

Pompadour Siciliennes of delicate quelity and gay colorings are shown in lowered stripes for making entire cos tumes with shapely coat barques, or cut in princesse form with Marle Antoinette paniers, ruches rose pleatings, festooned laces, or in great double choux or cab bage-rose pleatings of the same fabric These Sicillennes have stripes on a cream ground strewn with trailing vines and flowers in their natural haps alternating with plain stripes of Dreaden Dubarry rose, manye, or the soft creamy yellow of French porcelains surplice waists of dainty hot weather textiles are made with their front edges straight from the shoulder to the belt. edged with a real Valenciennes lace frill, and crossed at the waist line. This leaves a V space at the top, which is filled with a small chemisette of Valenciennes net, with a deep revers collar of the same, edged with lare, which is first sevied to a very narrow standing band of the dress fabric are made with sharply pointed bodice, full sleeves, and lightly draped skirts, made of exquisitely tipled slik marlins brocaded with small roses and follage, daisier, carnations, etc. These gowns are always made up over silk linings the shade of the \cither ribbons nor flowers are worn with these dresses, but upon the corsage is a picturesque cape collar of Venetian lace, soluted in front as a fibish to the slight Vopening in the neck. There are lace shoulder pulls and deep lace cufts

It is to be regretted that the ladies tailors are conceding to the taste for pew eled galloons and other forms of reweled decoration One might have hoped the simple severe style of dress which was bitherto associated with the tailors, would maintain its plain and tasteful character A fay rite mode of introducing the trim thing is to place it on plain cloth gowns as an insertion between velvet folds at the foot of the skirt, there being a corresponding decoration, on the boda's and sleeves

For full dress summer evening tollets are elegant fabrics from Paris and I yous of diaphanous make-gold-wrought, or in rich and dehoa e Persian devices and colorings, to be combined with fine gold canother mack gems. A superu ures for a site of gold wrought india tille, made up over white moire. It has a lais corsage cemi-decollete, a low chemisette of gold fishers not a flating collar spreading to the shoulders, and high fulle sleeves, goldwrought and still further brightened by vandyke insertions of the net.

The hair dressed a la Recamier, much lke a small 'Pompadour,' is found very becoming beneath the new and beautiful picture bonnets" for summer wear. This is an artistic coeffure that positively decoming to a decided point just at the top of the brow and a number of airy tendrils and love locks of hair cut purposely in lit-and miss lengths, and combed out to lightly vell the templer. The hair at the back is arranged in loose coils, run through with jeweled bead-pins. Diamond and other flashing ornaments are certainly more effective in collures arranged high All, however, cannot suitably or becomingly dress their hair thus. The physical plants of beauty is enhanced by it, but it detracts from the classic A successful compromise with many is to arrange the hair in the "emigrant braid at she back of the lead, thus leaving no one portion robbed to dress the other."

Some of the prefilest bridgemaids. mands a smooth snowy forehead, the hair

Some of the prettlest bridesmaids diesses are made of the beautiful fancy patterns | The lace goes all over the gown, veiling the satin sheath slip entirely and even extending beyond it at the neck, where the lining is cut half low, and serving also as the full high transparent sleeves, the holog here being dispensed sleeves, the loning here being dispensed with altogether. Many of the bridesmales dresses are made with a fitted blouse waist of lace, a style, bowever, that is not as becoming to the majority of ligures as the polited bodies. Indexed, whatever be the figure, whether good, bad, or indifferent, the well cut baque, bodice, or princesse, while it brings out the most graceful features of a good form, has also the merit of not exaggerating the desects of a figure that is not modelled in strict secondance with Hogarthian lines of beauty.

'Louise I."-The Louis XV. coats are boned as far as the arched bip seam where the tabs are sewed on, but not below it The table are most of them open to this seam Some, after being lined, do not juice meet, the fullness of the skirt showing beneath. A mourning costume would lock well with belighaped or princesse skirt, the hem finished with five hims folds of the dress goods or crape. Make a Lamis V coat either with plate or pleated basque, or with tabs piped with the gods or with crape and place a jabot down the front of pleated black oblifon.

(or flower blue is favored by fashion, but is not pretty, and it is as trying as silver gray or sea geen. It is undentably crude and "ancomplimentary to most people, though attempts are made to aciten its admitted asperity by the introducton of soit creams, fawn, biscuit, the But it is useless to try to overcome the pronounced antagonism of cornflower bine, and the woman who adopts it must content herself with being fashionable at the expense of her looks. Fvery day, however, we see women who have elected on the side of fashion. Nearly all lotense colors try the complexion, and even in extreme youth, with good health, the complection will not always bear the test of striking color unrelieved. etc. But it is uncless to try to overcome

There's a good deal of guarantee business in the store keeping of to-day. It's too excessive. Or too reluctant. Half the time it means noth-Words -- only words. ing. Words—only words.

This offer to refund the money, or to pay a reward, is made under the hope that you won't want your money back, and that you won't claim the reward. Of course,

So, whoever is nonest in making it, and works-not on his own reputation alone, but through the local dealer whom you know, must have something he has faith in back of the guarantee. The business wou'dn't stand a rear without it. What is lacking is confidence. Back of that, what is lacking is that clear honesty which is above the "average
